Hey my name is Cäcilia and i am really happy and exited to go to sweden for one year and learn many new things including learning all about traditions and customs of sweden.

I would say that i am a really happy , optimistc and open person i love meeting new people and making new friends which is not hard for me since i am really talktive. I have a really talktive side but also a really relaxed and calm side i love going out but i also love spending the night in and watching a movie. I play tennis since i am 6 years old and i really love i, i also play tennis with my parents on the weekends. I also do pilates and yoga at home, sometimes i also go in a fitnessstudio and do cardio. I adore meeting with my friends and baking and cooking together. I am really exited to show you german cuisine and cooking and baking for you. but on the other side i am really exited to eat swedish cuisine. With my friends i often go out shopping or going out to eat, but we also just chill in my room and talk or have girl-sleepovers. Many people say that they dont like school but i actually am exited to go too school and see my amazing friends and talk with them, yes ofcourse school sometimes gets overwhelming or is stressfull but seeing my friends and learning new stuff is really important too me. I adore going to events, no matter if its sport events or any other kind of event espacially going to classic ballet or going in the theater or opera, i am open for many new things. I am intrested in fashion since i want to do something with fashion in my future, i also like old movies and romcoms and 2000s fashion. I love traveling in the future i am planing on traveling alot and seeing as much as possible. I have one brother and one sister with which i am really close even though they dont live in Dresden anymore. I also am really close with my dad and we often travel, shop or play tennis together. I also have good bond with my mom.

I think it would be a good decision choosing me as your exchange student since i am open for new things and i love talking and i can tell you really much from germany and i also like listening and learning about sweden. I would bring with: good vibes and never a bad atmosphere. I am hoping too learn as much possible about sweden and ofcourse you.

Love Cäcilia
