Dear Host Family,

Hi! I'm Anna, I'm 17 and I come from Italy. I live in a small town in northern Italy, but I'm attending high school in a bigger city because where I live there aren't high schools. I study human sciences, but in the future, I don't want to be a psychologist, I would like to become a lawyer, it's my dream and although it is really hard, I am determined.

During the week I stay in a boardinghouse so I don't see my family, but on Friday I go back home for the weekend. Throughout the week I obviously study and spend a lot of time with my friends but mostly with my best friend, she is two years older than me but we are very similar and understand each other. I also play tennis. I really like tennis even though I've been playing since this summer. I would like to continue playing it in the coming years. I listen to a lot of music, it helps me a lot, I consider it as my comfort place.

I have four sisters and one brother, I am the youngest. They are all very supportive and I love them a lot. My mom has her own shop and my dad works in another city, on weekends he comes back home, like me. I also have a strong relationship with my grandmother, my uncles and cousins on mom's side because we all live in the same town. I obviously love also my parents from dad but I see them very little.

I want to attend the program in Sweden because it's a different place to do this experience. Most adolescents do their year abroad in the US, and Nordic countries are not so common. I like to discover new and different things.

I think that the host family should choose me because I am a cheerful person who likes to share her experiences (good or bad) with others and I really want to get to know new people and a culture different from mine but also let people to know mine. I'm curious, although at first I'm always a little bit "scared", but I think it's normal. I'm a loving girl, I speak a lot and I try to see always the best in things that happened to me. I am a little sensitive and I get attached easily.

I hope that this experience will be one of the best of my life so far, I am really excited and I can't wait to do it!

Thank you for hosting me,

Anna
